

Writing Sample - Zombie Apocalypse

"Students, multiple zombies are roaming the building! Run, Hide, Fight!" those were the words I heard on the announcement speaker. I thought to myself, Zombies? What? She must be. "Uuugh. Brains. Yum!" A weird green thing had its hands in front of him, his ~~arms~~ wrists dangling. "Students! Uuum, RUN!" those were the words Mr. Shidker said. Kori, sitting in front of me was scared. Trust me, she wasn't the only one. The zombie walked to the front of the room, it tried to grab Holly M., but its arm fell off. Then, we all ran out to Mr. Conner's room. We locked the door. Mr. Conner was in the middle of Social Studies for Mrs. Gill's class. Then, a zombie came from out of the ceiling. What a weird day, I thought. The zombie was walking towards the chalkboard, he tried to dig his nails into it, but all that came out were little screeching noises.

After about thirty minutes, a rescue airplane came to get us. Actually, there were about forty planes. After soldiers killed all the zombies, the school was dropped off in Idaho. We all ate baked potatoes, and talked about our VERY weird day. We built a new school, Delphi Corn and Potato Farming School. Then, we all lived happily ever after!

Five-Finger Narrative Outline

Name of Children's Book:

grabber or lead
problem
action
solution
ending

Narrative Writing

problem or challenge

action of the story

solution

takeaway ending

prompt/topic

grabber/lead